STATINTL MEMORANDUM FOR:

Dear Hal,

I have finished with the attached dissertation and, while it took longer than I thought, I read the entire document because of its personal interest to me covering a period of time when I was one of the minor players in the scheme of things.

Overall, this effort cannot be considered classified in any defensible way since most of the important sources

STATINTL

Be that as it may, it is a factual presentation to the extent that I can judge, does not reveal any CIA sources or methods and, except for those pages that I have paper clipped, does not do serious damage to our image. And even here the observations, though not always complimentary, are neither new nor shocking.

The only point of caution that I might pass along is that in a number of places, and I think I have clipped most of them, Mr. Scoville refers to Agency messages which he knows about, in some cases has read, but does not seem to have the original in his possession. I raise this simply as a caution, that this could be a subsequent request on his part, if the dissertation is challenged because of the large number of classified sources.
